

Local Foods: Food Safety and Marketing Strategies

This program consists of information that is critical the safe handling of garden produce from the planning of a growing plot to the farmer's market. While reviewing the information, you can complete the open-book exam.

The marketing strategies portion of the CD-ROM includes several tools that are useful for establishing a farmer's market. This portion of the program is not accompanied by an exam.

To order the program, contact Joan Hegerfeld-Baker, SDSU CES Extension Food Specialist. There is no charge for SD residents. If outside the state of South Dakota, the cost is $20 for the CD-ROM, plus $10 for shipping and handling.

At the completion of the program, send the evaluation and completed exam to the SDSU Cooperative Extension Service Food Safety Specialist:

Joan Hegerfeld-Baker

SDSU CES Extension Food Safety Specialist

SWG Rm 439 Box 2279A

Brookings, SD 57007

Or send via email to joan.hegerfeld-baker@sdstate.edu